STERKSPRUIT

Surrounded by the Drakensberg mountains of the Eastern Cape, Sterkspruit is a small scenic rural town consisting of many tribal villages.

Situated in the Joe Gqabi District these villages offer a fascinating multi-cultural diversity. If you need tranquillity and peace of mind, are a nature lover or are interested in history and culture, then this is the perfect place for you. Come and enjoy our friendly hospitality for an experience that will keep you returning to explore this wonderful scenic area.

Places worth visiting are the historic Mapethla Mohapi Memorial, the many battle sites and graves as well as the Bushmen paintings that are found throughout this district. Visit the Wittenbergen Missionary Station, where Olive Schreiner spent her early years and began notes for the writing of a "Story of an African Farm".

ACTIVITIES

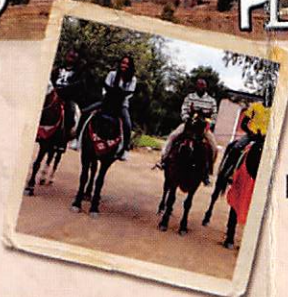

PLACES OF INTEREST

Explore the many villages including the breathtaking pottery at Ikaneng Pottery in Thaba-Lesoba (hole in the mountain). Enjoy fun filled cultural dances and other entertainment by prior arrangements only.

Wind your way down to Telle Bridge, to see the historic border gate to Lesotho, where Donald Wood, the then editor of the Daily Dispatch, escaped into exile disguised as a priest. Continue towards Lundean's Nek on your way to Tiffindell Ski Resort and enjoy some of the most spectacular mountain scenery. For an experience to remember come and explore the Sterkspruit and Herschel area in the heartlands of Senqu!
